

Units 8910. Debate Activity on Earning Money, Body Art, and Adult Children

A debate is a discussion or structured contest about an issue or a resolution. A formal debate involves two sides: one supporting a resolution and one opposing it. Such a debate is bound by rules previously agreed upon. Debates may be judged in order to declare a winning side. Debates, in one form or another, are commonly used in democratic societies to explore and resolve issues and problems. Decisions at a board meeting, public hearing, legislative assembly, or local organization are often reached through discussion and debate. Indeed, any discussion of a resolution is a form of debate, which may or may not follow formal rules (such as Robert's Rules of Order). In the context of a classroom, the topic for debate will be guided by the knowledge, skill, and value outcomes in the curriculum.

Structure for Debate

A formal debate usually involves three groups: one supporting a resolution (affirmative team), one opposing the resolution (opposing team), and those who are judging the quality of the evidence and arguments and the performance in the debate. The affirmative and opposing teams usually consist of three members each, while the judging may be done by the teacher, a small group of students, or the class as a whole. In addition to the three specific groups, there may an audience made up of class members not involved in the formal debate. A specific resolution is developed and rules for the debate are established.

Debate Preparation:

- Develop the resolution to be debated.
- Organize the teams.
- Establish the rules of the debate, including timelines.
- Research the topic and prepare logical arguments.
- Gather supporting evidence and examples for position taken.
- Anticipate counter arguments and prepare rebuttals.
- Team members plan order and content of speaking in debate.
- Prepare room for debate.
- Establish expectations, if any, for assessment of debate.

Conducting Debate:

Debate opens with the affirmative team (the team that supports the resolution) presenting their arguments, followed by a member of the opposing team. This pattern is repeated for the second speaker in each team. Finally, each team gets an opportunity for rebutting the arguments of the opponent. Speakers should speak slowly and clearly. The judges and members of the audience should be taking notes as the debate proceeds. A typical sequence for debate, with suggested timelines, is as follows:

- 1 the first speaker on the affirmative team presents arguments in support of the resolution.
(5 - 10 minutes)
- 2 The first speaker on the opposing team presents arguments opposing the resolution.
(5 - 10 minutes)
- 3 The second speaker on the affirmative team presents further arguments in support of the resolution, identifies areas of conflict, and answers questions that may have been raised
- 4 The second speaker on the opposing team presents further arguments against the resolution, identifies further areas of conflict, and answers questions that may have been raised by the previous affirmative speaker. (5 - 10 minutes)
- 5 The rules may include a short recess for teams to prepare their rebuttals. (5 minutes)
- 6 The opposing team begins with the rebuttal, attempting to defend the opposing arguments and to defeat the supporting arguments without adding any new information.
(3 - 5 minutes)

- 7 First rebuttal of the affirmative team (3 - 5 minutes)
- 8 Each team gets a second rebuttal for closing statements with the affirmative team having the last opportunity to speak. (3 - 5 minutes each)
- 9 There cannot be any interruptions. Speakers must wait their turns. The teacher may need to enforce the rules.

Post-debate Discussion and Assessment

When the formal debate is finished, allow time for debriefing and discussion. Members of the audience should be given an opportunity to ask questions and to contribute their own thoughts and opinions on the arguments presented. Members of the debate teams may also wish to reflect on their performance and seek feedback from the audience, including the teacher.

If some form of assessment was part of the debate plan, it would be conducted at this time. Assessment could be conducted by the teacher, the judging team, or the entire class. (See BLM G-15: Debate Assessment Rubric.)

Sample Script:

Study the debate sample script, ENGLISH DEBATE SCRIPT: “The Impact of Social Networking for Students” (see the attached file). This is your guide for your debate activity.

Activity: Choose only one topic.

Unit 8.

The debate topic is “It’s wrong for a woman to go on a date with a man just for money.”

Affirmative (pro) side: Yes! It’s wrong for a woman to go on a date with a man just for money.

Negative (contra/contradict) side: No! It’s NOT wrong for a woman to go on a date with a man just for money.

Unit 9.

The debate topic is “Having tattoos is a form of body art.”

Affirmative (pro) side: Yes! Having tattoos is a form of body art.

Negative (contra/contradict) side: No! Having tattoos is NOT a form of body art.

Unit 10.

The debate topic is “Living with parents over the age of 25 is useful.”

Affirmative (pro) side: Yes! Living with parents over the age of 25 is useful.

Negative (contra/contradict) side: No! Living with parents over the age of 25 is NOT useful.

So, present your opinions by writing your script following our class debate format (see the attached word file) and send it to my email (profiandone.online@gmail.com) before or on June 24 (or until June 28) . Since this is an online class for now, you work on your own role play debate.
